TO THE PUBLIC.

THE PAPER MILL owned by the subscribers, and conducted by two European master workmen, Cross and Wornick, is now in operation in manufacturing Paper. The experiment has been successful in making about two hundred reams of Wrapping Paper. In conjunction with those who are engaged in the same pursuit, we hope we shall be able to supply the growing demand of business and literature—and by which to prevent the importation of paper from foreign markets, and destroy our dependence upon other states, for this most valuable article. It will be our constant exertion to keep a quantity of the different kinds of paper, to supply our Fellow-Citizens; and make it so as to prevent complaint as to quality.

HIGH COURT OF IMPEACHMENT:
WEDNESDAY, January 2, 1805.

JUDGE CHASE'S SPEECH.

MR. PRESIDENT,
I appear, in obedience to a summons from this honorable court, to answer articles of impeachment exhibited against me by the honorable, the house of representatives of the United States.

To these articles, a copy of which was delivered to me with the summons, I say, that I have committed no crime or misdemeanor whatsoever, for which I am subject to impeachment according to the constitution of the United States. I deny, with a few exceptions, the acts with which I am charged; I shall contend, that all acts admitted to have been done by me, were legal; and I deny, in every instance, the improper intentions with which the acts charged, are alleged to have been done, and in which their supposed criminality altogether consists.

But in charges of so heinous a nature, urged by so high an authority, a simple denial is not sufficient. It behoves me, for the legal justification of my conduct, and for the vindication of my character, to meet each charge with a full and particular answer; to explain and refute at length, every principle urged against me; to state the evidence by which I am to disprove every fact relied on in support of the accusation; and to detail all the facts and arguments on which my defence is to rest. The necessity of an answer embracing all these objects, in cases of impeachment is obvious; and the right to make it, is secured by law and sanctioned by uniform practice.

Such an answer it is my intention to make. It is my purpose to submit the whole ground of my defence to the view of this honorable court, of my country, of the world, and of those who are to conduct the prosecution. So will my judges come to the trial with that full knowledge of the whole matter in dispute, which is essential for enabling them to understand and apply the testimony and the arguments; and the honorable managers will be better prepared, to refute such parts of my defence as they may think untenable.

But in a case of this kind, where the accusation embraces so great a variety of charges, of principles, and of facts, it is manifest, that preparing such an answer, as I have a right to make and as my duty to myself, my family, my friends and my country, requires at my hands, a considerable time must be necessary.

Many of the principles involved in this impeachment, are very important, not only to me, but to the liberties of every American citizen, and to the cause of free government in general. These principles ought to be maturely considered, and clearly explained. They present a wide field of legal investigation; many of them require laborious and extensive research, and although some of them have accompanied the prosecution from its commencement, and have thus been, of a considerable time, subjected to my consideration; some on the other hand, have been very recently introduced.

Of this description is the principle, Whereon the 5th and 6th articles rest; relative to the extent in which the courts of the United States, are to be governed not only in their decisions, but in their proceedings by the state laws. A principle which was not brought into view until a few weeks ago, and the explanation of which will require a careful consideration, of the conduct and proceedings of the supreme and circuit courts of the United States, from the first establishment of our federal system.

The same articles involve the construction of two state laws of Virginia, which I am charged with having infringed, in the trial of Calender, which were not mentioned on the trial, or during any of the introductory proceedings, and of which I never heard until these articles were reported a few weeks ago. It is manifest that in order to fix the true construction of these laws, about which professional men have differed in opinion, recourse must be had to the decisions of the courts of that state, as explained by their records; or in case those records should be silent, to the recollection and opinion of professional men, accustomed to preside or attend in the courts where those laws are enforced. It is manifest that such an investigation cannot be accomplished in a short time.

The facts on which this prosecution rests, except the last article, are alleged to have taken place more than four years ago; some of them at Philadelphia, some at Wilmington, in the state of Delaware, and some at Richmond, in Virginia. These facts are very numerous, and the greater part of them are of such a nature, as to depend for their criminality, or innocence on minute circumstances, or slight shades of testimony, and often on the different manner in which the same circumstances may affect different spectators, all equally disposed to represent truly, what they observed.

The most material facts are alleged to have happened in Richmond and Philadelphia. In the former of these places I am an utter stranger, having never been there but once; and in the latter, I knew personally but very few individuals. These circumstances render it very difficult for me, to ascertain the persons who witnessed the various transactions in question, and are able, after this lapse of time, to give accurate testimony concerning them; and this difficulty is very much increased, by the distance of those places from that of my residence. I assure this honorable court, that from the moment when this prosecution assumed a serious appearance and a definitive form, at the first session of congress, I have turned my attention to the subject of my defence, and my answer, and have exerted myself in finding out and procuring the requisite testimony; but the difficulties which I have stated, added to my ill state of health during a great part of the last year, have prevented me from making such progress as to afford me the hope of being able to obtain the object in a very short time. I have done much, but much, very much remains to be done, even in those parts of the prosecution where I had some notice by the proceedings of last session. In those very material parts which have originated during the present session, every thing is still to be done.

It may perhaps be thought, that although these preparations might be necessary for the trial, they are not so for the answer. But such an opinion I trust, would on examination be found erroneous.

The answer, in cases of impeachment, must disclose the whole defence, and the defence must be confined to the matters stated in the answer. Otherwise the prosecutors might be surprised at the trial, by objections which with previous notice, it would be in their power to refute or explain. The accused therefore, before he puts in his answer, ought to have time sufficient for making himself thoroughly master of his defence, of the grounds on which it rests, and of the facts and evidence by which it is to be supported. He ought to be completely prepared for the trial; between which and the answer no delay need to take place, except such as may be necessary for convening the witnesses.

In so material a part of his preparation for defence, as the drawing up of his answer, it will not, I presume, be denied that he ought to have an opportunity of obtaining the best professional assistance, which it may be in his power to procure. This assistance is rendered peculiarly necessary to me, by the very precarious state of my health, which affords me, at this season of the year especially, but short and uncertain intervals of fitness for mental or bodily exertion. Should my answer be required in a short time, I have no reason to suppose, that I shall be able to obtain such assistance of this kind as I so much need, and as probably, I shall otherwise have in my power. Professional gentlemen, engaged extensively in business, are at all times too liable to interruption, and too much occupied to devote themselves exclusively to an affair of this nature, so as to complete it within a short period; and at this season of the year, they are for the most part particularly and indispensably engaged.

These reasons in favor of a liberal allowance of time for preparing the answer, derive great additional force from one further consideration which I hope that I may without impropriety present to the view of this honorable court. Reputation ought to be more dear to every man, and is more dear to me than the honors or the emoluments of office. In cases of impeachment, the facts which appear, the explanations which are given to the arguments which are urged, at the trial are sometimes wholly omitted in the statements given to the public, and often misrepresented, or stated too indistinctly to be generally understood. It is to the answer that the world must look, for the justification of the accused. It is by his answer alone, that he can furnish a clear, concise and authentic explanation of his conduct and his motives supported by such a statement of his proofs, as can be extensively read, clearly understood, and easily remembered. He may therefore claim from justice, and expect from the high dignity and responsible character of this honorable tribunal, such time for preparing this very important document, as may enable him to bestow on it all the care and labor which it requires, and to give it all the force of which it may be susceptible.

In stating these considerations, Mr. President, in support of my request for a continuance of this case, I did not in all intention of affected delay! Feeling a consciousness of my integrity, and a just pride of character, which place me far above the fear of events, I am anxious to meet this accusation, and I rejoice in an opportunity of refuting it. I know that my conduct, though liable to a full portion of human error, has at all times been free from intentional impropriety. I know that in all the instances selected as the grounds of accusation, I have discharged my official duties, with a sacred and inviolable regard to my oath, my character, the laws of my country, and the rights of my fellow citizens. I know that I can prove my innocence as to all the matters alleged against me. And acrimonious as are the terms in which many of the accusations are conceived, harsh and opprobrious as are the epithets, wherewith it has been thought proper to assail my name and character, by those who were "puling in their nurse's arms," whilst I was contributing my utmost aid to lay the ground work of American liberty; I yet thank my accusers, whose functions as members of the government of my country, I highly respect, for having at length put their charges into a definitive form, susceptible of refutation; and for having thereby afforded me an opportunity of vindicating my innocence, in the face of this honorable court, of my country and of the world.

But this vindication, situated as I am, and as this case is, cannot be the work of a few weeks. Much time has been employed in preparing the accusation; less will be required for the defence, but a short time will not suffice. I am far from presuming to prefer to this honorable court, whose sense of justice, and disposition to grant every proper indulgence, I cannot doubt; but it may perhaps be not improper to suggest, that by the first day of next session, the answer could be prepared and put in; and that the trial might then take place as soon afterwards, as the witnesses could be collected. I declare that it will be impossible for me to prepare my answer in such time as to commence the trial during this session with any prospect of bringing it to a close before the session must end; and were I to omit that full answer which I wish to give, it would be impossible for me, in the course of this session, (only two months of which now remain) to ascertain fully all the facts necessary for my defence; to find out and bring to this place, the witnesses and written testimony, or to make arrangements relative to that assistance of counsel which my case requires, my age and infirmities render essential, and a longer time would enable me to procure.

I hope, Mr. President, I may be permitted to observe, that my private and professional reputation for probity and honor has never been called in question. I have sustained a high judicial character for above sixteen years, and during the first six, I presided at the trials of more criminals than any other Judge within the United States. During this whole period of time my official conduct has never been arraigned, except only in the trials of Cooper, Fries and Callender, above four years ago. For the truth of these assertions I appeal to all who know me; and particularly to the two honorable senators from Maryland.

In respect to the present prosecution, I will make but one remark. That I am impeached for giving on the trial of Callender, several judicial opinions, in which, Judge Griffin my associate, concurred;—my opinions are held to be criminal, or that they flowed from partiality, and an intention to oppress Callender. But the same opinions given by my associate have been considered perfectly innocent.

I have now only to solicit this honorable court to allow me until the first day of next session to put in my answer, and to prepare for my trial; and I submit myself as to the further proceedings in this case, to the discretion of this honorable court, in whose integrity, impartiality and independence I repose the highest confidence. I will not for a moment believe that the spirit of party can ever enter and pollute these walls, or that popular prejudice or political motives will be harbored in the bosom of any member in this honorable body.

On the contrary, I hope and expect that all its decisions will be governed by the immutable principles of justice, and a sacred regard to the constitution and the law of the land, which every member of this court is bound by duty, and the obligations of a christian judge to support and observe.

After the judge had concluded his speech he was ordered to reduce his motion to writing, as follows:

I solicit this honorable court to allow me until the first day of next session, to put in my answer, and to prepare for my trial.

LEXINGTON, FEBRUARY 12.

Dr. Filback of this town now has some of the Genuine Vaccine or Cow Pox matter with which to inoculate those who may apply. It is much to be lamented that this mild disease has not been more encouraged in this state; as no doubt can remain but it will effectually prevent the Small Pox, which has for some time raged with considerable violence on Licking and in the lower parts of the state.

On Wednesday, the 2d. January, Samuel Chafe appeared at the bar of the Senate as a high court of Impeachment, and being informed by the President of the Senate, that he were ready to receive any answer he had to make to the articles of impeachment preferred by the house of representatives; he requested, in consideration of his age and infirmity, the indulgence of a chair, which was immediately granted. He then delivered the speech which will be found in the preceding columns. On the following day the Senate agreed to the following:

"ORDERED, That the 4th day of February next shall be the day for receiving the answer, and proceeding on the trial of the impeachment of Samuel Chafe."

During the proceedings as a court of impeachment, the managers on the part of the house of representatives were not present.

By yesterday's mail we received a great number of papers, being part of several mails which did not arrive at the proper times. Our Washington-City papers are only up to the 9th January—From Philadelphia we have the Aurora of the 21st. Congress have passed an act to divide the Indiana Territory into two separate governments. At the date of our last accounts, they were engaged on a motion to resolve the territory of Columbia to the states who made the cession to the general government. Levi Lincoln has resigned his office of Attorney-General.

There have been but few arrivals from Europe, since our former accounts, and none with late intelligence. Rumour states that France has declared war against Sweden and Denmark; but little credited as it respects the latter.

A letter from an officer on board the U. S. frigate, the President, dated Syracuse Harbour, Sept. 23, speaking of the vessel blowing up before Tripoli, says: "But by an arrival last night of a small vessel from Malta, the captain of whom was at Tripoli at the time of the explosion, he informs that captain Somers had got well in, when two gun-boats full of men were sent to board him, which they effected, 100 Tripolitans being on board his boat, he found he must either fall into their hands or blow himself up; he chose the latter, and with his own hands put the match to the powder, which instantly dashed to pieces the boats, & every person in them. About 100 shells fell into the town and castle—at this instant there was the greatest conflagration every where, and with 200 men I believe the castle might have been taken."

Accounts from Gibraltar state, that about the 13th November an embargo was laid on all vessels not cleared out. A rupture between the United States and the emperor of Morocco was believed to be near at hand. (Bos. Pap.)

CURIOUS EXPERIMENTS ON NATURAL PHILOSOPHY.

THE 9th February, when about to commence the Experiments, a number of persons found their way into our room by the back windows, which had not been fastened; those persons had no tickets, and being mixed in the room with those who had paid for entrance, the room was found too full, which was the reason we were obliged to refuse entrance to a number of Gentlemen who had tickets of admittance for that night's exhibition.

The great number of spectators, kept us from exhibiting all the announced experiments, and the Invisible Lady was exceedingly fatigued.

This disagreeable circumstance will not be repeated; we have carefully closed every place, by which disorderly persons had found their way into our room. A sufficient number of persons will be placed at the door, and in the room to keep good order.

Our room is large enough to contain 80 persons; but that the Spectators should be entirely at their ease, we will not sell more than 40 tickets at each exhibition—No children will be admitted unless accompanied by their parents—and we will exhibit every evening from the 13th inst. The exhibition will commence precisely at 6 o'clock by

The experiments on Electricity, the experiments on Inflammable Air, the experiments on Galvanism, the experiments on the Chinese Fires, and the Invisible Lady.

We earnestly beseech those Ladies and Gentlemen who were supplied with tickets for the 9th, & who could not see the exhibition, to accept our excuse, and we beg them to honor us with their presence on the 13th, with these same tickets.

From the 13th inst. the room will be opened every day from 9 o'clock in the morning, till 2 in the afternoon, to those persons who would wish to converse with the Invisible Lady, by paying 25 cents.

The price of tickets for the evening exhibition is 25. 3d. children half price.

The experiments on Hydraulics, the transmutation of Fluids, the Phantasmagoria, the Balloon, are preparing.

Travellers' Hall.

THE SUBSCRIBER

HAS lately been induced, from the rapid increase of his custom, to purchase a lot of ground, adjoining that on which he lives, for the purpose of building a dining room and assembly room, each 54 by 32 feet 10 inches, with six additional lodging rooms, and intends to finish them before the ensuing winter; which, together with his Tavern and house, will occupy a front of near one hundred feet in the most agreeable part of the town, and in the centre of business, being on the highest part of the public square. He has considerably increased the furniture, &c. of his house and tables—His domestics and servants are of the most faithful dispositions and properly qualified for the departments to which they are arranged—He has a constant supply of the best stable forage, imported and country provisions, imported liquors, &c. of the best quality, foreign newspapers, &c. &c. and his ice will, most probably, last through the hot weather.

The distinguished preference which the first characters have already given him in his business, fills him with gratitude. He offers his sincere thanks to all his good friends, and begs leave to assure them, that neither his time nor his purse shall be spared in attempting to render the Travellers' Hall, a house of entertainment, for Genteel Guests only, equal to any in America.
